Department Chiefs to be Put on Carpet for Laxity in Care of Disabled.

Washington.—President Harding Tuesday asked his special commission, headed by Charles G. Dawes, Chicago, to make "diligent inquiry" of government department heads in an effort to find out just where the government agencies have been lacking in authority, neglectful or failing in caring for disabled servicemen. He also asked that investigation be made of the "abuses which have developed."

"I have asked you to meet and make an investigation into the administration of the law for disabled and injured soldiers of the late World war," the president's statement said. "There have been numerous complaints that the government is neglecting the becoming care of these defenders, to whom it owes every consideration and there is further complaint that there is tardiness in dealing with them and their claims which grew out of their service."

To Make Diligent Inquiry.

"I should like you to make diligent inquiry of department heads or those associated with them, in an effort to find out just where the government agencies are in any way lacking in authority, neglectful or failing to carry out what is the unquestioned intent of congress in its enactment of laws and the making of appropriations. There need be no inquiry into the actual conduct of the government agencies. I think it is well understood that every agency desires to do its duty and generously with those of its defenders who were impaired in the nation's defense."

"I think it would be well, while you are making inquiry as to the failure to care for these service men that you also make inquiry into the abuses which have developed and look carefully into the reparations adopted as they may now their probable effect in the future. It is well to realize that the American people want to prove the republic's gratitude to these men."

Miss Fair Foundation.

"The regulations adopted at this time are likely to be in effect for a full half century to come. In order to deal justly with these men and carry out a permanent policy it is exceedingly important to start on a firm foundation."

"I have asked Brigadier General Sawyer to meet with your committee and make available to you such information as you may desire, which he has gathered as the representative of the executive investigating the relations of the several national branches of government dealing with this problem. I do not intend your committee to enter into a wide extended taking of testimony, but that you will be able to gather from department heads and officials responsible for the service such information as you may require to pass judgment on the program adopted, and make recommendations as to our future course."

2,000 Soldiers Who Vote
in State Win Court O. K. for Drawing Cash Bonus

(By Associated Press.)

Madison.—The 2,000 soldiers, veterans of Wisconsin, who registered outside the state, will receive the cash bonus of $10 for each month in the service as a result of the decision of the supreme court Tuesday morning affirming the lower court decision in the case of Elmer Lindemann against the service records board.

Justice Owen in his opinion declared that actual voting residence and not military residence was the basis on which the claim for bonus should be based. The state in fighting the case of Lindemann, who registered and was inducted into service from Michigan, based its argument upon the contention that under the bonus law only military service and not those "done" while the state government agencies have been lacking in authority, neglectful or failing in caring for disabled service men. He also asked that investigation be made of the "abuses which have developed."

Two other decisions of state wide importance were handed down by the court. In the case of Clarence Srenka and Wenzel Srenka, appellants of the county of Keweenaw, the court affirmed the decision of the lower court in which the defendants were cleared of responsibility in an injury to the plaintiff.

Clarence Srenka, aged 12, the ward of Wenzel Srenka, was the use of his tools, "a pointed thrust" through a knot-hole in a door of the school conducted by the defendants.

When the boy had found the door barred, he looked through the knot-hole to see if anyone was in the room to open the door for him. While he had his eye over the hole, a stick was pushed into the door, destroying and making it necessary to remove it.

It is said this decision will affect many cases that have been held in abeyance.

Chain He Was Not Notified.

Bergdoll's attorneys had contended the record of Bergdoll's trial did not show he ever received personal notice that he had been drafted.

They tried to establish further that in such case he could not be a deserter because he did not know he had been drafted.

Judge Pollock held that the draft board's notice was sufficient; that it was up to the man drafted to receive his mail.

British Take Hughes' Note as Decisive Refusal of Leniency.

(By Associated Press.)

London.—Official British opinion on the note sent by Secretary of State Hughes to Berlin of the German reparations question is, it was learned Monday, that Germany failed dismally in her attempt at a new method of solving the reparations problem—that of approaching America for assistance.

British officials believe Secretary Hughes' note indicates a refusal by the United States to be a party to a German attempt to escape responsibility for the war and reparations payments. It is believed Germany direct appeal to the allies.

Admitting this, he said, he added that the note was born of a German proposal will be pursued him by the British.

The German move, it is declared must be a proposal regarding the method of reparations payments and not a proposal for a reduction from the total sum decided upon by the Paris conference of the allies.

PARIS IS SATISFIED

WITH STAND BY U. S.

Paris.—The reply of the United States to Germany on the reparations question has given the greatest satisfaction to French official circles, where it is regarded as finally closing the door to all escape by Germany from meeting her liabilities under the treaty of Versailles.

GERMANY DISAPPOINTED IN NOTE FROM HUGHES

Berlin.—German newspapers commented today on the communication from Secretary of State Hughes regarding reparations, express disappointment. The Pan-German organs criticize the Washington administration for its insistence "upon the false assertion that Germany brought on the war and must accept the responsibility for it." The only light seen by the press is in the phrase declaring that Germany is "morally bound to make reparations as far as possible."

Stillman of New York, who had gained notoriety in their sensational divorce case, left Monday night for Chicago with Miss Marie McCormick and Mr. McCormick after visiting two days at the McCormick Lodge.

The three were said by the caretaker to have motored to Gordon, Wis., and there taken a train for Chicago, but this report was impossible of confirmation in other quarters.

Speeder on Beloit Road
May Die

As the result of alleged speeding with a motorcycle on the Beloit road at midnight Monday, Ronald Bliss, LaSalle avenue, was with his head in the back of a car, his neck broken and his right arm fractured skull. His condition is critical and he may not live. Dr. M. B. Welch, who attended him, reports that he has been unconscious since the time of the accident.

Bliss was driving a motorcycle with C. S. Smith, 31½ State street, Beloit, riding in the side-car. Two miles south of the city they crashed head on into a bar attached to the water tank of a traction engine being run across the road by B. L. Gower, a farmer.

Gower states that he heard the machine bearing down upon him just as he had stopped because of a ditch. He went around to the rear where he stood holding a lantern. When the cycle hit the bar, it tipped over, throwing Bliss headlong.

Bliss was rushed to Janesville in the police ambulance being produced from one car and unconscious.

An X-ray taken of Bliss failed to reveal a fracture, but his condition continues serious. The accident occurred two miles south of Janesville. Bliss is 27 years old and is employed as a machinist in the Fairbanks-Morse company, Beloit.

Total for city.....2,737

The turn-out of voters up to 2 o'clock of election day, Tuesday, was the heaviest for this period in the city's history indicating a total poll of close to 6,000 votes, or from 400 to 500 more than were cast in the presidential election last November.

A canvass of the 10 voting precincts made between 1:15 and 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon showed a total of 2,777, and cast their ballots in the minority election, as against 2,615 at the same time last November, when the women voted on state issues for the first time. In the spring election of 1919 when the same two candidates, Thomas E. Welsh and Henry C. Klein, were running for mayor, only 1,13 had voted up to 2 o'clock. Women did not vote for mayor at that election.

Fourth Ward Heavy.

The first precinct on the Fourth ward had the heaviest turnout when the canvass was made shortly after 2:30. The second precinct of this ward was next with 259, followed by the Fifth ward with 235, and the second precinct of the First with 312. The remaining precincts all reported totals ranging from 200 to 300 with the first precinct of the Second ward the only one below the 200 mark. The vote there was 181.

The total at the same time in the five wards last November was: First, 351; Second, 264; Third, 649; Fourth, 300; Fifth, 161.

Scores of Cars Out.

Boosters were active throughout the city. There were placards posted at every precinct by several of the candidates. Cars carrying voters piled back and forth from the polls to the stations and restaurants, as well as one cigar store at large in the city, five school directors for a full term and one for an unexpired term. A county superintendent of schools for Milwaukee county is being voted for. While all candidates are running on nonpartisan tickets, it is known that 6 out of the 12 candidates for school directors in Milwaukee are socialists.

The present of daylight saving is among several measures also being voted upon in Milwaukee.

KENOSHA VOTES ON SCHOOL BOND ISSUE

Kenosha.—The principal feature of the election in Kenosha was the voting on a proposed issue of $80,000 in bonds for the erection of a junior high school. Interest in the election was increased by the vote for municipal judge, the candidates including John G. Slater, city attorney of Kenosha; Arthur B. Ames and M. G. O'Donnell, all well known local attorneys.

Baltimore.—The will of Cardinal Gibbons was filed in the orphans' court, Monday, disposing of a personal estate of about $100,000. To Bishop O. B. Corrigan, administrator of the Baltimore diocese, the Rev. Louis R. Stickney, rector of the cathedral, and the Rev. Eugene J. Connelly, chancellor of the diocese, is left the bulk of the late prelate's estate. Under a codicil drawn in November, 1918, the personal property was to be divided among his children. It is believed that the will was not fully understood, it appears, adding that it "aimed at no monopoly or exclusive rights."

COUNCIL SILENT ON ELECTION EVE

Aldermen Meet for Few Minutes and Adjourn a Week Due to Election.

Twas the night before election so the council decided not to do any business.

Councilmen gathered Monday night for their regular bi-monthly meeting and the two committees came to see what the solons would do about the garbage collection ordinance and other important matters pending. Nothing was done.

All, L. D. Horn merely made a motion that the council adjourn to the coming Monday night after allowing the regular bills and it was voted unanimously. He offered as his reason for adjourning that Tuesday being election day, with five aldermen then in office and city clerk up for reelection, they were doubtless tired out and might want to do a little campaigning in the evening.

City Att'y to Chienow.

The bills were allowed. City Attorney Roger C. Cunningham was instructed to go to Chicago Wednesday for conferences with bond houses relative to the $600,000 high school bond sale Friday and the First Christian church was given permission to hang a banner across South Main street advertising dedication services for the new edifice.

Meet Thursday Afternoon.

There was nothing else, all except that Mayor T. E. Welsh made an announcement requesting all the aldermen—the new ones wherever they may be—to meet in his office at 8 o'clock Thursday afternoon for an important conference with W. H. Dougherty, attorney, and W. C. Sparks, manager of the Rockford & Interurban Railway company, relative to the company's proposition for laying rails and paying for paving on South Franklin street.

New Chairs Used.

The new easy chairs for the aldermen were used for the first time Monday night. The present council will have two more meetings in which to tilt back in the spring chairs to pass on city problems—the meeting next Monday night; and the last meeting of the old council, April 18. The new council will meet for organization April 19.

Meet Thursday Evening.

A plat of Hillcrest addition, owned by Marie Grots, was ready for presentation to the council Monday night but was not offered. The plat contains 21 lots in the Seventh ward bounded by Racine, Logan and Ringold streets with two new streets provided for—Grove and Grace. The plat has been approved by the city planning commission although when first presented July 22, 1920, it was held unacceptable. Since that time, the recommended changes have been made.

CITY HAS BRIGHT HOPE FOR HOSPITAL

Federal Man Coming to Look Over Site—Evansville Legion Backs Move.

In an effort to aid Janesville get the hospital for ex-service men in the Great Lakes district located here, the Evansville post of the American Legion has adopted a resolution to be sent to officials at Washington. It was turned over to L. O. Holman, manager of the local Legion of Congressmen, who forwarded it from Washington Saturday after making a trip to the hospital.

He states that Janesville has as good a chance to get this institution as any other city in the Great Lakes district and a better one than nine-tenths of the cities. Upon arrival at Washington, he states that he rounded up as many people interested in Janesville as possible, including Senator Fred and Congressman George Cooley, who appeared with him before the committee.

Mr. Billings Coming.

The committee on sites has tentatively agreed to come here to inspect our site," he said Monday. "All they need in traveling expenses, congress not having voted them. At any rate Dr. Frank Billings, representative on the committee for the Great Lakes district, will see us over our site. 460 Acre Game Refuge Is Established Near City

Establishment of a wild life refuge on the outskirts of Janesville to be known as "Doverer's Refuge" was announced Tuesday by George S. Parker, originator of the plan. The preserve has been accepted by the state conservation commission.

There are approximately 450 acres in the refuge. They will eventually be fenced off and the pastureland from trespassing. It is located on the Rock River, west of town, east of the bridge taking it over will go into effect on May 20, and will remain for five years, at which time it will be subject to renewal.

It will take in 40 acres of the Hemingsway farm; 40 of the Sprackling farm; 100 of the Lamb farm; 100 of the Shumaker farm and 50 acres of county land; besides several others.

In discussing the new refuge, Mr. Parker stated that he was prompted to establish it because of the fact that wild life seems to shun the entire stretch at present. Birds and even squirrels keep away from it, he said. On inquiry from a member of the commission, he declares he was told that animals and birds had been driven off and learned to shun the vicinity because of the long series of activities of hunters and boys.

High single game—West Side No. 1, 1628; Samson Tractors, 1514.

High individual average, three games—Messick, 153; Richards, 152.

High single game—Cook, 253; Cook, 250.

One of the hottest contests for a city bowling league tournament promises to be pulled off Wednesday night. The Samson Tractors, holding first place with 64 games won and 17 lost, is matched to play the West Side No. 1 outfit, second place holders, with 61 games won and 20 lost.

It is the final night of the present season. The West Siders must win all three games to tie.

On the other hand, should the West Siders drop three games while the Baker-Rites, third place holders with 58 games won and 23 lost, there will arise a tie for third position.

Race in Seconds. These three teams will end in the first three places. Then comes a race for fourth, fifth and sixth. The Baker-Rites, third place, will probably be beaten by the Brandenburg Printers and two ahead of the Crescents with 32 wins and 45 defeats. The Ross outfit is booked to appear on the drives against the Brandenburgs, thus making another most interesting combination. The Crescents will take on the Lawrence Lunch, which would appear to give them an opportunity to go ahead of both the Ross boys and the Brandenburgs.

The Lawrence Knights and the Janesville Machine company will conclude the season in seventh and eighth places respectively.

Samsons Are High.

When it comes to high scores, the Samson Tractors are leading the league with 2887 with the West Siders trailing with 2733 in the dive men event. In high single games for teams, the West Siders hold the honors so far with 1628, the Tractors standing behind with 1514.

Bremer has high single game of 253, made a week ago, Cook holding down 250.

Richards is leading the string of bowlers on season's standings with an average of 186, with Messick second and Lumpert third.

BUSINESS EAST IS GETTING BETTER

Manager Holman Notes Increased Activity in Industrial Centers.

"Business conditions seem to be greatly improved everywhere in the east," according to J. O. Holman, manager of the local Chamber of Commerce, upon his return from a trip to Washington, New York, Michigan, and Chicago. "Merchandise is moving with greater rapidity than it has for many months."

"There seems to be a general feeling in the eastern states," Mr. Holman observed, "that prices are again reasonable. I observed also that merchants had begun to renew their very much depleted stocks. This speaks well for future business conditions because it means that orders are being placed with factories and that factories will resume operations."

Optimism Coming West.

Stating that the east was the first to suffer the business slump, the commercial manager points out that the revival will take the same course and that Janesville, therefore, should display a spirit of optimism. He says:

"The last glimpse of the country's business situation shows that the improvement of conditions has already begun in the east and that it has spread well toward the west. Bank deposits which are a barometer of the business pulse, show a very marked increase in the states of the eastern and north central parts of the United States."

Active in Steel.

The steel district of Pittsburgh, Mr. Holman found to be much more active since last summer. The mills, he declares, are averaging about 50 percent of capacity. He also discovered more activity in the coal fields of West Virginia than for some time, although not near normal. He reports that the coal industry seems to have been much more severely affected than the people of the central west realize. He saw many hundreds of miners standing about the streets of Fairmont.

"Two questions that seem to concern more business men in the east than in the central west are those of tax reform and tariff revision," states Mr. Holman. "It is the impression there, as I believe it is here, that the government should take action on both questions, but it is still too early for the general opinion to exist that we reform at least immediately would go much to solve the business situation. It is the general opinion in Washington that the matter of tax revision will receive early consideration; that it will be considered next after the question of peace with Germany."

Indicative Points.

"The things that most certainly foreshadow business are the facts that retailers have not yet purchased new line of display stock; that the cost of living has materially decreased; that there is a large financial reserve reported principally by liberty bonds; that farmers are still holding tremendous amounts of grain and other crops; and that there is a growing spirit of optimism. The indications are that when business is again fully resumed that it will be extremely good."

FOUR YEARS AGO

WEDNESDAY, WAR WAS DECLARED

Four years ago Wednesday, at 11 minutes after 1 p.m., the United States was officially declared at war with Germany and the Central powers through the signing of the declaration of war by President Wilson.

Instantly, the entire country answered the call to arms, rushed across the telegraph wires and the nation was ablaze with patriotism.

Janesville responded to the presidential proclamation and lined up its forces when Mayor Fathers issued a proclamation for the citizens. The Second Separate company, later the First, composed the 123rd infantry. A. E. D. rushed into a recruiting campaign to make war strength of 125. The boy scouts offered their services to the city. Citizens commenced plans that later became the Red Cross and other war work.

Meanwhile, stringent quarantine was thrown up around public buildings and property throughout the nation. In the harbors, especially at New York, all German ships were seized and interned. Mail to and from Germany halted. At Mineral Point huge searchlights played over the zinc mines.

EMPLOYEES WORKING WITHOUT A PAY ROLL

Employees in the office of F. A. Taylor, assessor of incomes for this district are still working without promise of remuneration. They have not received pay since March 7, as the result of a shortage of funds for the Wisconsin tax commission.

An appropriation has been passed for a year, but not paid, June 1, 1921 to July 1, 1922 and the appropriation was cut $56,000 from that passed two years ago. The amount granted in 1919 fell short of meeting the total expenses of the tax organization so that there is doubt if the officers can be maintained.

An appropriation has been passed to back up the assessors' budget, but there is no information in Janesville whether the fund, which is to be used for salaries, has been made legal as yet through the signature of the governor and publication.

AS TO TEACHERS' SALARIES IN JANE-

VILLE.

One of the hardest matters to settle in the work of the school board is the salary list for teachers. It requires investigation, careful analysis, knowledge of teaching capacity, consideration of years of service given and helpfulness the teacher gives to the pupils, and above all, justice.

In the preliminary report of the committee made Monday night the salaries for Janesville in part were fixed. They have been based on all the things mentioned and it may be said that so far as we can conclude, they are comparable with any other city in the state with the exception of Racine and Milwaukee. That is wise and just. Janesville must demand the best there is in teaching, but cannot be had without adequate payment of salaries. The list is not complete as yet. When it is, it is believed that general satisfaction will be expressed over the action of the board. It is a hard task and has been well done.

All Janesville will be pleased at the raise in the salary of the superintendent of the schools, Mr.

Frank Holt. Standing as he does among the foremost educators of the state, considered outside the city of Janesville one of the leaders in the educational work of the Northwest, it may be prophesied that it will be only a question of a few years when he will be welcomed by the entire nation as one who points the way for educational progress.

And we have the further pride in Superintendent

Holt that he is a Janesville product and began his school life here where he is now living and working.

There is one thing sure: Whoever wins in today's election will have the most votes.

OUR INTERNAL POLICY.

"Et tu Brutus," remarked Caesar when Brutus gave him the final knock out. That must have been the way Germany felt when the news that America was standing solidly behind the allies for the payment of the reparations bill. America could do little else. There was no alternative if we kept faith and maintained honor. There were a number of things that happened Monday in the diplomatic history of the nation. One thing became sure and that was a final and lasting refusal to enter into the League of Nations as set forth in the Versailles treaty. Another was the agreement that the Knox resolution declaring the war at an end should be pressed in the senate at the earliest possible date. The war has been over and there is no occasion for continuing the war boards and the war privileges in this country and a great added expense. While such a resolution will have little force as an international measure, it will clear away many things here at home.

It may be said that the present administration with Mr. Hughes as secretary of state is functioning properly and rapidly without wiggling or wobbling and no pussyfooting.

Every child born means $200 tax exemption. Were Col. Roosevelt alive he would have another powerful argument against race suicide.

KINGS ARE IN THE DISCARD.

We do not have very great respect for the kings any more. Our attitude was quite different some years ago. A king was really something to think about. We had a lot of sap-heads and for that matter have some of them left, who love to think about the nobility and the titles, and once in a while we marry the girls off to them. Then they creep back to father and mother with a nice divorce which has cost the shirt-sleeved father a bank roll. The ideals of the American girl have been shattered. She has a new vision. She knows that crowns and coronets will not buy that simple happiness which really arrives only when we give something in the way of service and helpfulness for it.

In the king line there are about three who have respect of the nations. Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Spain. In Holland the queen is loved, but she has so little to do with governing that the people look upon her more as the people of Great Britain do King George, a necessary but harmless piece of governmental furniture. A number of these kings are valuable as an asset only because they can be dressed up and head the parades. There was a time when Carl, former emperor of Austria and King of Hungary, would have been welcomed back to a throne simply because he had a "divine" right, but the people have had a great awakening and know that most of the evils that have come to the dual monarchy have resulted from the rule of the Hapsburgs. So they have sent him away. He escapes the fate of another Hapsburg, Maximilian, who attempted to start an empire in Mexico and was shot.

The fate of Karl is with a satisfactory, though pitiful tragic comedy, born of the eternal justice of things. One may have to wait a century or so as in the Hapsburg case, but eventually the Day of Fate arrives when all the grinding beneath the iron heel, all the burdens put upon the people, all the tears and mourning, all the imposed ignorance, all the bitterness of poverty and hunger, will be avenged within the hund' of man. It will come just as Victor Hugo, in the philosophical analysis of the Battle of Waterloo, refused to give credit for the end of the man who had

A New Meat Supply

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington, D. C.—Within the last few weeks steaks and chops of reindeer venison have been offered on the menus of local restaurants, as they have been or soon will be in other cities. The prices are not much higher than for beef, and there is a good prospect that in a few years Alaska reindeer meat will be in the market in sufficient quantities materially to affect the price of beef and mutton.

Scouts here point out that this advent of a new meat or the market has a great significance, which is apt to be overlooked by the consumer. This venison is being produced on lands which 30 years ago produced no meat except a few seals, and so little food of any kind that the few Eskimos who inhabited the region were starving. Now it is producing meat for export. And there are tens of thousands of square miles of wild land in the United States which are now producing nothing, and which could likewise be made to produce great quantities of meat at low cost by the simple expedient of conserving the animal life natural to them. This has been pointed out again by scientists, but has made no impression so far upon the general public.

Consider first the case of the reindeer. In 1898 the Eskimos of the northern coast of Alaska were in a starving condition. The seals and walruses which had always furnished them with food had been almost exterminated by white hunters. The Bureau of Education saw that in Lapland, where climatic and other conditions are almost exactly the same as in Alaska, the reindeer furnished the natives with an adequate means of subsistence. A few reindeer were accordingly introduced into northern Alaska. There are now tens of thousands of them there. The Eskimos have been converted into civilized and self-supporting men by the industry of caring for them, and an increasing supply of reindeer meat is being shipped to the United States every year.

This has all been done under the direction of Uncle Sam's latest contribution to international peace, the battleship Colorado, launched recently, the most powerful ship in the navy. She probably will be the most powerful ship for several days when somebody will name her a trifle more powerful.

But the thing we are now concerned with is the fact that the barren northern waste was turned into a food-producing region by the method of introducing into it the kind of meat animals that could survive there, and carefully bringing them to the highest state of abundance possible.

In the United States the range lands that are suitable for cattle and sheep have long been supporting as many of those animals as they can. The reputation of the country grows, but the meat supply does not. We are therefore forced to import more and more beef and mutton every year, and the price of meat constantly rises.

Sheep and cattle are prairie animals, which can make but little use of woodland, because they feed on grass. There are millions of acres of woodland in the United States, in the Alleghenies and in the northern tier of eastern and central states, and in smaller bodies scattered all over the country. These woodland regions produce practically no food at all. A few cattle and sheep range through them, browsing in the open places, but that is all. They are not adapted to the raising of cattle and sheep.

But they are superbly adapted to raising of deer and moose. These animals you must understand, do not live upon grass but upon trees. The whitetail deer, which is the best and most widely distributed of the American deer, lives wholly on twigs and leaves. The moose lives on the bark of trees. Neither of them injures the forest for timber purposes. Neither of them takes an ounce of food away from any cattle and sheep which may range there. In other words, if all our timber lands were stocked to capacity with deer and moose, there would be just that much added to the nation's meat supply without cutting down any other supply of anything, and without any expense except that of affording the animals the necessary protection. This would not be nearly as great as the expense of raising cattle and sheep.

This plan is no pipe dream. In many parts of Europe deer have long been kept at the highest possible state of abundance for the sake of the meat supply. But in Europe the wooded areas are so small in proportion to the population that this meat supply does not amount to much.

In the middle ages when the population of Europe was much smaller, venison was both expensive and more common than beef and mutton, as the late David Lantz of the Biological Survey pointed out in his bulletin on deer farming. In the United States the wooded areas are enormous, and the potential meat supply by not keeping them stocked with the animals for which they furnish natural range. This was all figured out long ago by the well known naturalist, William T. Hornaday.

What has become of all those investigators?

JUST FOLKS

BY EDGAR A. GUEST.

I'm glad I lived the winter through. I'm glad that I am here to see. The green returning to the tree, The blue skies nodding overhead, The tulips nodding where I tread, To hear the robins "howdy do!" And whistla back to them, as though I'd never known a touch of snow.

I'm glad I had the strength to bear The cold, gray days with all their care, The wind I never doubted then. That soon the sun would shine again And skies would wear their fairest blue, For here's springtime at the door,

With all the joys worth living for. Winter is like a time of care. The days of doubt and cold and long. We falter when we should be strong. Yet we've seen the faith, some day. And life's pretties, garb will wear.

And life's pretties, garb will wear. And we shall say when skies grow blue, We're glad we've lived our trouble through.

The Story of a Woman's Transformation

CHAPTER XXII.

We Shall Avan

"Almost before I realized it, the two weeks was over, and my wedding day had arrived. I should not have stayed up in the country so long—but there was something I wanted to accomplish there, and though I failed, or thought I failed to do it, the fault was not my own, and the failure was not complete, even so."

"You say we should be married in the early spring," I protested once more. "Aunt Ethel's mother had me almost all day, and our visits with each other were few and short."

"Do you know it's almost spring?" he asked.

"But only a little while ago Esther came down for Christmas."

"Yes, and after ten days or so you went up to the country, where, lady-like, you stayed an entire month—in spite of your lover's protests. You came back a little after the middle of February, and it is now the first of March."

I thought about it, then laughed, and kissed him.

"I never had a sense of time," I told him. "And now I must run away from you for your mother in case she has no more nice place to go, and her dressmaker is waiting for me to try one on!"

And Francis let me go, with a little humorous laugh at the mention of his mother's name.

Our boat was to sail at 2 in the afternoon, so the wedding was planned for 1 o'clock. And the bridegroom, of course, it should be noted, Mrs. Meade complained—then there was to be a wedding breakfast, and we were to leave in the car at 1:30 for the pier.

"The car will come for you at your apartment at 10, and you're to dress here. Everything will be ready," Mrs. Meade told me the day before.

And meekly I agreed, glad indeed to agree to anything she planned, just now.

The night before Violet and I packed my trunk—a new one Francis sent around, while I discarded practically all my old possessions and put in the lovely new things Francis' mother had chosen—a trunkful in themselves. I had rather a sentimental feeling about some of those old clothes, many from remnants when I was a child, and the cost of their little cost. But Vi had no such feelings. She calmly made them into a bundle to be given away, and enthused generously over the loveliness of the new things.

But never, when she was sad, or when she was happy, did she say a word about Bud.

And finally I felt I must know more about it. We were packing—Vi was all ready to leave the next day, and only a few things remained to go in my trunk. It was late at

Jealousy Requires That
Dear Miss Page—I have been married five months and live on a farm. I have not brought all my things from town for I have a few things my husband says I cannot bring. Some of them are from a friend that died. I never had any of them as souvenirs. Another thing is a kodak book with pictures of friends in it and of my first husband (who died four years ago) and baby. I would not think of parting with the book. My husband is somewhat jealous. What shall I do?—A Blue Wife.

The Letters of Tessie and Joe

DEAR JOE:

I never heard of "psycho-analysis" before, and if, as you say, it explains why my cooking don't come up to your ulterior standard, why then all I can say is that maybe it also explains why you have such a perfect mania for holding on to money. Maybe you were too liberal at one time in your life, but not since I've known you, heaven knows—I can sign a written guarantee to that—and maybe your suppressed desire to save something are breaking out now in all their fury just when I happen to be around as an innocent victim. So I guess you can see Joe, in "psycho-analysis" like in everything else the source of the goose is the source of the gander. Now that I want to hold myself up as a goose except for purposes of illustration.

My Finnish maid Hilma is blossoming out terribly as a singer. She sings all the time she works and all the time she's not working, the latter being practically all the time. The worst of it is, she sings Finnish words to American tunes, and as you can imagine, that don't give a very patriotic atmosphere to the house, especially seeing that a small branch of the American Legion meets next door at Ricketts every Sunday afternoon and if they happened to hear her I might be suspected of being a Bolshevik in disguise.

So I will take Sunday off in the future instead of Thursday afternoons, but Hilma refused in a perfect fit of Finnish which may have been downright insulting for all I know, so finally I compromised on letting her off on Thursday and Sunday afternoons both. After all Joe there's nothing like a little diplomacy to get your own way.

Well, ta ta. Love from self and child.

TESSIE.

The Big Town Round Up

Printed by the Janesville Daily Gazette by permission of and special arrangements with Houghton, Mifflin Co., Boston.

Clay made no comment. His friend knew enough to say no more to him. Presently the cattleman went out. It was in the small hours of the morning when he returned. He had been tramping the streets to get the fever out of his blood.

But Johnnie discussed with Kitty at length this new development just as he had discussed with her the fact that Clay no longer went to see the Womfords. Kitty made a shrewd guess at the cause of division. She had already long since drawn from the couple the story of how Miss Beatrice had rejected his proposal that she take an interest in her.

"They must 'a' quarreled—likely about me being here. I'm sorry they did."

Millions Use "Gets-It" For Corns

Stop Pain Instantly—Remove Corns
Everybody, everywhere needs to know what millions of folks have already learned about "Gets-It."

End Your Corns With "Gets-It".
Guaranteed painless corn and callus remover. Any corn no matter how deep rooted, departs quickly when "Gets-It" acts. Wonderfully painless stops with the first application. Get rid of your corn and wear shoes that fit. Big stores simply make corns grow bigger. "Gets-It" costs but a trifle everywhere. Made by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago. Sold in Janesville and recommended by Reliable Drug Co., McCus & Bush, and Smith Drug Co.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE!

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleans the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown face," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no-good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or puny face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients affected with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

BOYHOOD STORIES

Of Famous Men.

Edmund Clarence Stedman
A young and beautiful mother sat in her bed-room, sobbing as though her heart would break.

In the adjoining room her father was giving her small son a spanking.

which could be heard throughout the house, and the poor mother wept for her boy. But the youth was stubborn; not a cry did he utter.

Under the pain of an unusually hard crack, however, he rebelled, and raised his head, bringing it to the spectators of the old gentleman's nose and broke it into a dozen pieces.

This boy's nature was a happy one. His only sad moments were those in which he was punished for some prank.

Edmund Stedman's joy expressed itself in verse and he is known as one of America's foremost poets.

DAILY HARDNOT

Tom is one-fourth as old as his father. Five years from now he will be one-third as old. Five years ago he was one-seventh as old, and 20 years from now he will be one-half as old. How old are they now?

LONG-BILLED MARSH WREN

Str—About the size of House Wren. General effect is cinnamon brown and black above and whitish below. White line over eye conspicuous. Crown, sides black and center olive-brown. White line over eye. Middle of back is cinnamon brown. Middle tail feathers pale cinnamon-brown. Rest of underparts, white.

RANGE—Breeds from southern Virginia and east of the Potomac valley, West from southern New Jersey to South Carolina and casually to Florida.

This is a sprite of the marshes.

Seek out a marsh where the cat-tails grow and there you will make the acquaintance of one of the shyest and most attractive of our summer birds.

Such is the Long-billed Marsh Wren.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head and ear noises or are growing tired of hearing go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parment (double strength), and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoon four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noise.

Clogged nose, stuffy, upon breathing, becomes easy and the mucus stops dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

DO YOU CATCH COLD EASILY?

HOW TO AVOID IT

Colds are due to germs. No one can prevent the germs from getting into your nose and throat. But you can help keep plenty of strong, vigorous, "antibodies" in your blood to fight and kill off the nasty "coldgerms" before they do you any harm.

To develop these germ-destroying antibodies you must have a strong, healthy, red-blooded and strong, vigorous constitution. In fact this is the best preventive against almost any disease.

Take a cold, nervous, run-down, or subnormal child, take no medicines. On day you may develop a serious throat, bronchial or lung trouble or perhaps pneumonia and you may die like a dog. Therefore, eat a hearty, nutritious diet, exercise, get plenty of fresh air, and make stronger nerves. There is nothing superior to NUXATED IRON.

Do Drugs and Backache, pain under the eyes, may be about the only symptoms. But they are real danger signs.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have relieved thousands of cases of eye, nose, throat, and ear trouble in two weeks' time.

Over 4,000 people are using Nuxated Iron.

It has been given to United States Senators, U. S. Army Generals, many physicians and prominent men. Even the Pope at Rome mentioned Dodd's Kidney Pills in his blessing of the 100th Anniversary of the National Congress of Physicians.

Satisfaction guaranteed or the manufacturers will refund your money. Beware of substitutes.

Look for the word "NUXATED" on every package. Send 10c in postage to N. L. on every tablet. Sold by all druggists.

1900 Cataract Washer. Special demonstration today and Wednesday. Jamesville Electric Co.

All druggists—35c, 70c, $1.40. The largest bottle holds six times as much as the smallest.
